

Symbiosys applies its skill and experience to develop and deliver Information Technology solutions in consultation with customers, to meet their business requirements and overcome operational challenges. In addition, our consultants provide specialist knowledge of products offered by Microsoft and other world class brands to enable them to build operational efficiency and gain business benefits.

The company name is derived from the word "Symbiotic" which is defined as:

"A mutually advantageous (beneficial) association or relationship between persons"

This name was intentionally chosen, to focus attention on the aspect of forging a partnership with customers and consequently to differentiate Symbiosys from other competitors in this field. The SYMBIO prefix positions the customer beneficial approach and SYS, being an abbreviation for Systems, defines where we apply our skill and add value.

Being truly professional, the company's operating philosophy is structured to understand the customers' specific business requirements and to develop technology architecture to provide cost efficient solutions that meet these requirements, thereby adding value. We believe that people do business with people they trust and can rely on. This has been proven to be true.

The company is successful because the people it employs are exceptional. They are the major differentiating factor between Ordinary and Excellent; as excellence can only be consistently delivered by the best. The skilled professionals who work here are some of the most highly qualified and are all vastly experienced in their respective areas of specialization. Collectively, this small team of professionals holds more than 60 years of experience and consistently delivers world class performance.

Company History

Started in 2004 as a partnership of two, as an IT consultancy, as Symbiotech
2004 to 2007 Grew into the outsourced services space, but has since become more specialized
2007 To date Diversified into Consultancy, Products and Support Services, with Intellitech
2010 Achieved Microsoft Certified Gold Partner status

2012 Symbiosys is the product of merging Intellitech and Symbiotech into a single business under one business brand name. The dynamic new entity delivers a package of Professional Services coupled with a range of selected Software products to meet our customers' business requirements in an efficient and simplified manner.

Symbiosys continues to support both local and international customers, facilitated via the scaling benefits achieved through the merger. While both companies traded side-by-side for several years quite successfully, the need to present a single brand with associated cost benefits was unavoidable. This was successfully achieved during 2012 and the benefits are already in evidence.

The consolidated business enjoys the benefits of a strong strategic position in the market, coupled with outstanding operational expertise and sound business & financial administration.

Symbiosys is poised for dynamic achievement and growth, as a well-founded competitor in both local and international markets.
